Dear Allen:

The success of the White House Conference on the Foreign Aspects of United States National Security was largely due to your informative and constructive talk. Our people have a great interest in what the Russians are doing, and no one can tell them as effectively as you did. I am deeply indebted to you for taking the time to be present not only in the morning, but at noon.

I further want to apologize for breaking up your planned birthday dinner for Foster. It did give us an opportunity to honor him at the head table that evening and to have the entire audience sing "Happy Birthday." But I know this was not an adequate compensation for the privilege of being with his family on such an occasion.

Many thanks, Allen, for the courtesies you have always extended to me.

With warmest best wishes, I am

Cordially yours,

The Honorable
Allen Dulles
